

PROLIFICS OFFERS UNIQUE AND INNOVATIVE MIGRATION TOOL AND TRANSITION SUPPORT SERVICES TO REDUCE COSTS FOR CUSTOMERS

NEW YORK, New York – July 31, 2009 – Prolifics, the largest end-to-end systems integrator specializing in IBM technologies, is helping BEA/Oracle customers concerned with rising maintenance costs and the escalating fees for support, migrate their infrastructure to WebSphere.

Organizations are looking to reduce expenses without an increase in risk. Many of these companies have selected IBM WebSphere in order to reduce IT maintenance expenditures and lower total cost-of-ownership while at the same time mitigate risk, build on a comprehensive portfolio, and partner with the SOA leader. One of Prolifics' customers has recently saved over $1M by migrating off WebLogic.

Prolifics knows that migrating can be a difficult decision and customers have to ask themselves – “Is this the right move for me?” With the free IBM and Prolifics Online Migration Assessment tool, customers can immediately get a report customized for their WebLogic environment. The report outlines migration efforts required after answering some questions about the customers WebLogic implementation. A Prolifics migration expert will then review the report results at no cost.

Companies wishing to migrate can start cost cutting immediately with Prolifics Transition Support. This Level 1 and Level 2 technical support option for the J2EE application running in the WebLogic environment allows customers to maintain the WebLogic environment concurrent to the migration process, while starting to eliminate support charges from Oracle/BEA. The support includes problem determination, diagnostics, alternative solutions, and problem remediation.

Prolifics has a solid reputation as the “go-to” migration expert for dozens of companies who utilized products from BEA, TIBCO, Oracle and Sun Microsystems and have sought stability, scalability and integration with their SOA and Portal solutions. With these two strategic focus areas, Prolifics has excelled by creating trusted technology partnerships, implementing reliable solutions and providing quantifiable results and ROI for its customers.
