

IBM Content Manager on Demand by Prolifics

IBM Content Manager OnDemand (CM OnDemand) is designed to deliver critical business information across your organization – where and when it is needed. Gain significant return on investment by transforming costly high-volume print output to electronic information. CM OnDemand brings new levels of connectivity and information access, helping you leverage business knowledge more effectively and respond more quickly to customer and marketplace needs. This high-performance middleware adds enterprise report management to your content management system. A recognized leader for best-of-breed report management functionality, CM OnDemand enhances productivity and can lower your total cost of ownership.

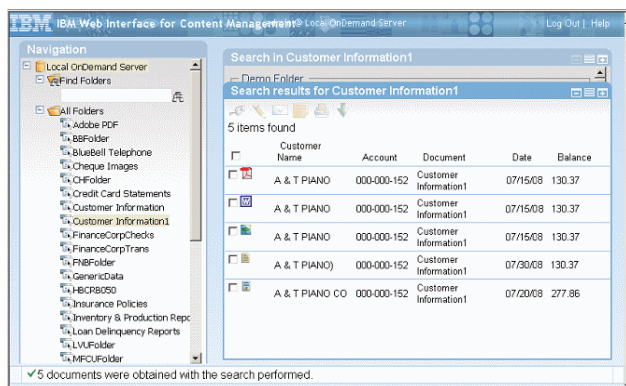

By bringing records-enabling reports, checks, bank statements, customer invoices and other sensitive content under the control of a single records management engine, your organization can manage its compliance requirements, which can help lower your exposure to risk.

Prolifics can help you enable high-volume capture of computer output, statements, invoices and back office reports. Our consultants are experts in Enterprise Content Management and will work with you to solve your organization's most difficult business challenges – managing unstructured content, optimizing business processes and helping satisfy complex compliance requirements through an integrated information infrastructure.

Better Decisions, Faster
